LA FOLLETTE'S RECENT CAMPAIGN

Has Done Much To Draw The Lines In Favor Of Davidson Among The Conservative Voters Of The State.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Aug. 31.—Senator La Follette is making a whirlwind close of his campaign for the nomination of Assemblyman I. L. Leuroot of Superior as the republican candidate for governor of Wisconsin. While all the indications point to the nomination of Governor James O. Davidson by from 18,000 to 35,000 majority over Leuroot, there are some followers for the junior senator who profess to believe that he will be able to turn the surprising trick and effect the nomination of his unpopular selection over the popular present Norwegian governor. They do not give substantial reasons for this faith, but refer to the fact that La Follette has a number of recent fights in this state has been opposed by mighty interests and hiserto insurmountable political obstacles and has won. In many respects this fight is the hardest that La Follette has made in this state. He has chosen to divide his own faction by turning against his old time fellow in the railroad ranks. Should the result of the primary election show that Leuroot has won, it will be a remarkable personal triumph for Senator La Follette, for it is conceded that Mr. Le-

$50,000 FUTURITY AT SHEEPSHEAD BAY

Big Event of Coney Island Jockey Club Will Be Held Tomorrow—Attendance Likely 50,000.

New York, Aug. 31.—The great Futurity, worth about $50,000, will be run over the six-furlong straight course at Sheepshead Bay tomorrow. The predictions are for favorable weather, and the Coney Island Jockey club anticipates an attendance of at least 50,000 persons. The Futurity is the largest stake offered in this country for horses. It is not an old event, but is the precursor of a number of similar large stakes, like the Matron, the Brighton Produce and the like. None has attained the celebrity of the Futurity, however, which has come to most race followers outside the regular track contingent, to be the one race of the year; to rank at least with the Suburban and Brooklyn Handicap as an event to be watched at all costs. The stake was started in 1883 and the very first is deemed in some respects the best of the series, Proctor Knott defeating the mighty Salvator in a great race and winning a fortune for his owner, who was accounted a poor man to be in such company. The race in 1891, when his Highness defeated Yorkville Belle and Degeonot, was another one to be remembered. In 1893, Domino and Dobbins were the contenders, beginning their remarkable rivalry for turf honors. In 1897 came the great contest of the series, when L'Aleoutic captured the stake, an utter outsider, wholly unregarded by the wise ones in turf form. Since then colts like Ballyhoo Bay, Salvator, Hamburg Belle and Artful have captured the stake, fully rewarding the hopes of a majority of the students of form.

ENORMOUS SALE OF SEATS FOR BATTLE

Joe Gans and Battling Nelson Both in Fine Condition and Confident of Victory.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Goldfield, Nev., Aug. 31.—The sale of seats for the Gans-Nelson fight today shows that an enormous crowd will witness the Labor day battle. From San Francisco, Seattle, Los Angeles, Denver, Salt Lake, and Chicago and other distant points delegations of the sporting fraternity will be on hand to see the lightweights contest for the championship. Gans is impatient for the fight to begin, as he declares he wants to show the public what he can do at a weight which suits him. All reports from the Gans camp are to the effect that he is in splendid shape. He himself says he is in just as good trim as he was when he met Joe Walcott at San Francisco, when he stood the rushes of Walcott and landed at will on the Barbadoes demon. Reports from the Nelson camp say the Dane is as fit as a fiddle and is as confident as Gans. He is said to have a large bunch of ready money on himself and to have advised his friends to take the short end.

ASBURY PARK WAS BABYDOM THIS DAY

Infants of Beauty from Every Nook and Corner of America and Some from Beyond the Sea.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Asbury Park, N. J., Aug. 31.—Babies from every nook and corner of Uncle Sam's domain and some from across the sea held festival holiday and high revel in Asbury Park today. Dressed in their best raiment they paraded the ocean front this afternoon and were reviewed by Queen Titania (Miss Julia Doremus) and her maids in the court of honor. It was baby's day in the fairy realm by the sea. Almost every variety of infantile precocity was represented in the moving procession. From the infant terrible subdued and tractable, under the influence of appalling environment, and rising in graduated stage to mature juvenility, which, under pressure, was permitted to assume "trouserdom" and long skirts. There were nearly 500 good-humored tots in the procession and they tottered contentedly in the grand march while many thousands of spectators, fascinated by the moving panorama, looked on with sympathetic eye. There were dolls in coaches, wheeled by their proud young owners; express wagons and bicycles, baby carriages and go-carts; children dressed in fancy costumes, lots in burlesque garb, twins, boats and pony turnouts. Allegory and history found equal favor in the float division, which contributed much variety of original construction. The fancy dress division was phenomenally strong and picturesque and evoked unqualified remarks of approval from the spectators. There were several pairs of twins in the parade. The court of honor naturally was the center of attraction. Queen Titania, her maids of honor, the high chancellor, the court jester, Prince Charming and Princess Cinderella, together with the pages, trumpeters and courtiers, presenting a brilliant and entrancing scene. Many watched the parade from the hotel piazzas and the roofs of the cottages and buildings adjacent to Ocean avenue. It is estimated that the throng lining the sidewalks on Ocean avenue was the largest ever gathered in Asbury Park upon any similar occasion.

BRYAN NOT LEAST BIT WEARY TODAY

He Arose at Usual Hour and Began Long-Series of Conferences with Party Leaders.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, Aug. 31.—By rising early this morning after the fatigues of the Madison Square Garden demonstration of last night, Mr. Bryan again gave evidence of the fact that what would be the hardest kind of work for others is but pleasure for him. Without showing the slightest trace of the strenuous day he had put in the Nebraska, he took breakfast at the Victoria hotel at his usual hour, and then began another busy day by holding a two hours' conference with some of his intimate political associates. Early this afternoon Mr. Bryan will jump over into Connecticut, where he is slated for two speeches. The first will be delivered at Bridgeport, where he will stop off for an hour or so en route to New Haven. At the last named place he is to speak in the early evening. New Haven is the home of Col. Alexander Troup, one of Mr. Bryan's closest friends, and it is believed that the visit to New Haven at getting a close view of the purpose in New England as regards the next presidential contest. This belief is strengthened by the announcement that at New Haven Mr. Bryan is to meet George Fred Williams of Massachusetts, former Governor of Rhode Island and other representative New England Democratic leaders.

FORGERY, BIGAMY AND FRAUD CHARGED

Frenchman of Low Degree Has Startled Europe with His Swindles and Impersonations.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Paris, Aug. 31.—It is a fact that cannot be denied that the most extraordinary charlatans and adventurers the world has known have hailed from France. There is one now in Paris, who, according to his record, may claim place with the most clever and notorious of his class. This is a man named Laparra, who has just been placed on trial for forgery, bigamy, fraud, and illegal wearing of decorations. The evidence goes to show that he has posed as a Russian prince, a Polish count, a French general, and an American millionaire. He began life as a common soldier and rose to be sergeant major. Then leaving the army he became successively schoolmaster, book agent, fruit merchant, building contractor, church organist, mine manager, and eventually insurance company director. The company consisted of himself alone, but before that fact was brought to light he had secured many thousands of dollars. In his various impersonations he is said to have married fourteen women, some six of whom have come forward to give evidence against him. Laparra speaks several languages, and what makes his conviction most difficult is the fact that he has developed the art of facial alteration to such an extent as to make identification almost impossible.

QUEEN WILHELMINA TWENTY-SIX TODAY

All Holland Observed Event with Holiday Festivities—Congratulations from Diplomats.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
The Hague, Aug. 31.—Queen Wilhelmina received the congratulations of the foreign diplomats today on the occasion of her twenty-sixth birthday. The observance of the anniversary was quite general throughout Holland, though the people have not yet recovered from the gloom cast over the country by the recent announcement that the joyful anticipation of the Queen of giving birth to an heir to the throne had again been frustrated. Queen Wilhelmina succeeded to the throne on the death of her father in 1890, and was formally inaugurated sovereign of the Netherlands on Sept. 6, 1898. On Feb. 7, 1900, the young Queen married Prince Henry of Mecklenburg-Schwerin. On two previous occasions her Majesty has been prematurely crowned—namely, November, 1901, and September, 1902—each time the hopes of the country being disappointed. Should the Queen die without offspring the House of Orange, which has been associated with Holland since the 11th century, will become extinct.

adier General Albert L. Mills

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Mills, who has been the superintendent of the academy for several years past. The new superintendent is a native of Kentucky, but was appointed to the military academy from New Jersey. During the Spanish war he was major and lieutenant colonel in the adjutant general's department and was chief of staff to Gen. Wood in Cuba. More recently he has served with his regiment in the Philippines.

NEW SCHEDULE MADE FOR THE UNIVERSITY CLASSES

Business Department Has Been Reorganized,
And Will Open This Fall
Regularly.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Aug. 31.—The first schedule of courses to be offered by the state university in its recently determined correspondence department was made public yesterday. It is the business department of the new extension system, and will be under charge of Professor D. E. Burchell, head of the classes in business administration. He announces courses in business forms, business correspondence, organization, bookkeeping, commercial accounting, cost of production and factory accounting, office appliances and systems, advertising, salesmanship, buying, credits and collections, financial operations, problems in business management, and a special feature called an advisory department. The advisory department is designed to offer the commercial interests of the state and the people who are without large and technical education entering business the same opportunity that the university department of agriculture offers to the farmers, dairymen and stock raisers of the state, that of writing to the university and receiving expert information. In a short time it is expected that the extension department of the engineering school will announce its correspondence courses, and the other departments of the university will follow in due time until the following departments will have schedules of courses offered in the correspondence end of the state school: Mathematics, languages, history, English and literature, politics and economics, education and philosophy, business, engineering and highway construction. These courses are designed to bring the utility of the state university to every citizen so that he may study by mail, at home, the same as many are now doing through the various correspondence schools of the country. Dr. Charles McCarthy of the legislative reference department in the capitol, has after careful investigation found that there are fully 25,000 people in Wisconsin taking work in the correspondence school, at least 20,000 of them being at present actively enrolled, and that they send out of the state annually for this purpose from $800,000 to $1,000,000. Some of the correspondence schools are good, many are not, and it is believed that none of them are equipped as is the state university to serve the people of the state.

"PEERLESS" ONE IN NEW HAVEN TODAY

Marked Day's Proceedings.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New Haven, Conn., Aug. 31.—William J. Bryan reached New Haven at 12:15 o'clock today. At the station there was in waiting a long line of carriages for the members of the party and for the committee on entertainment. In and about the station and on nearby streets an immense crowd had gathered. The band struck up a lively march and a procession started across the city. The day's program was marked by the absence of any formality, the only special arrangements being the erection of a small section of seats near the bandstand and the issuance of tickets to luncheon. At luncheon in the Music Hall Bryan was most enthusiastically received. Lieut. Governor Woodruff, ex-Governor Gravin of Rhode Island, and ex-Congressman George Fred Williams of Massachusetts, were the chief guests. Gov. Woodruff welcomed Bryan on behalf of the state as a "distinguished American gentleman," and extended him the freedom of the commonwealth.

MICHAEL McMAHON
NATIVE OF THE CITY

Became Prominent in Grand Forks County, North Dakota. Where He Died Recently.

Michael McMahon, a native and former resident of Janesville, died recently at McCanna, Grand Forks county, North Dakota, where he was one of the best known and most highly respected residents. He was a man of unquestioned honesty and integrity; of a loving disposition; and his home life was of the happiest. Mr.
McMahon was born in Janesville and went to Grand Forks county in 1881.
During the early days he was engaged in railroad grading, and had the contract for the Great Northern grade from Alexandria, Minn., to Laramie.
It was while there on railroad work that he took up a homestead, upon which he had resided since. He was married in Janesville to Miss Ellen Roe, and from that marriage, which occurred thirty-one years ago, this summer, seven children were born, six of whom are living. They are Martin, William, George, Leo, Leonard, and Miss Mollie. Patrick McMahon and John McMahon, residing near McCanna, are brothers of the deceased and he has three sisters, Mrs. John Duffy, Mrs. R. McKoon of Iowa, and Mrs.
John Salling of the town of Porter.
From the time of his death until after the funeral, the flag on the "Grand Forks" courthouse flew at half-mast and on the day of the obsequies the ed for.

..Forty Years Ago..

Janesville Daily Gazette, Friday,
August 31, 1866.—The News—A dispatch from Maj. Gen. Sherman says the Indian troubles are exaggerated.

A convention of soldiers is to be held at Quincy, on the 6th of September, for the purpose of organizing a grand encampment of the Army of the Republic.

The banquet given to the President
by the New York nabobs cost $25,000.
Wines worth $20 per bottle were served;
and the Chief Magistrate made a speech, in which, among many other remarkable sayings, he thanked God for the Philadelphia convention and claimed that "Gen. Grant indented my policy."

That Ugly Worm.—Mr. A. A. Jackson having found one of the tomato worms of which we spoke a few days since, in his garden, sent it to Bond
D. Walsh, Esq., Prof. of Entomology, Rock Island, Ill., with a view of ascertaining its nature. The gentleman replies as follows:

"The worm you send is not at all poisonous and perfectly harmless."

Bursting of a Mill Stone.—A millstone in the rear end of the big mill burst about 12 o'clock this morning,
scattering the pieces in all directions,
making some ugly holes in the partitions and in the outside walls of the mill. Very fortunately no one was injured, but there was about the mill, and several men were about the mill, and one of the workmen was close to the stone when the accident occurred.

Upon examination it was found that the iron bands about the stone were considerably rusted, which doubtless accounts for the mishap, as we are informed that it was not running fast enough to produce such a catastrophe.
The loss is some $200. Mr. B. F.
Crosscut, who runs the portion of the mill, proposes to put it in immediate running order again. Fortunately for him he has just put in a new run of stones and will therefore be enabled to go on with the business without interruption.

GREAT CONCOURSE WELCOMES BRYAN

RECEPTION TO NEBRASKA'S FA-VORITE SON.

BIG CROWD ENTHUSIASTIC

Thousands Line the Sidewalks From Battery to Hotel, where Im-prompt Speech is Made by Leader of Democracy.

New York, Aug. 31.—Mr. Bryan's entry into New York Thursday afternoon was a series of ovations beginning with his landing at the Battery at four o'clock and reaching an early climax when he arrived at the Victoria hotel. Twenty-seventh street and Broadway, an hour and fifteen minutes later.

Here the homecoming Nebraskan was fairly mobbed by the thousands of persons who had gathered outside the hotel entrances and the hundreds who had forced their way into the corridors.

Finally an entrance was effected by the police and Mr. Bryan reached the lobby stairs. He was halted and called upon for a speech and the crowd surged about him cheering lustily
all the while.

Doubtful as to Home.
Mr. Bryan lifted his hand and secured silence.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he began,
"I believe that later this evening is the time for me to make a speech,
and you must not expect one now.
When a man is in difficulty, he has a right to call upon his friends for assistance. I am in difficulty now. I am trying to get home, but I have been traveling so much of late that for the life of me I can hardly tell where home is."

"In Washington," called an enthusiastic auditor. "The White house!"
shouted another.

"And we are going to put you
there," yelled a third.

Then every one cheered. Mr. Bryan smiled indulgently.

"I thought home was in Nebraska,"
he continued.

"Only until 1908," shouted the crowd.

"Some said it was in Missouri," added Mr. Bryan, amid laughter. "I've about come to the conclusion that if I don't care where home is. Soon
I am going to take another course in college, for at a recent gathering in London where several languages were spoken, I felt constrained to make excuses because I could speak but one. But I would have to know every language in the world to tell you how much I thank you."

Carried by Flying Wedge.
Mr. Bryan then stepped down from the stairs to shake hands with a few of his personal friends who crowded about him. This was the signal for a general rush, and the Nebraskan was almost swept out of the Twenty-seventh street entrance of the hotel

before the score of policemen stationed in the lobby could stem the tide. Finally order was established and the impromptu reception proceeded. Several thousand persons passed in line and Mr. Bryan shook hands with them all. Distinguished
hands with them all. Distinguished men of the Democratic party, visiting governors, United States senators and representatives, national committee men and legislators, mingled with the other visitors and enthusiastic New Yorkers who sought to pay this tribute to the distinguished man who two years in advance of the national convention is hailed as the Democratic nominee for president.

The reception lasted for more than an hour. Mr. Bryan then retired to his apartments and had dinner with his family and a few intimate friends.

Great Crowds at Battery.
Mr. Bryan was landed at the Battery from Edward F. Galt's steam yacht, the Illini, on board which he spent last night. Thousands of persons were gathered in Battery park,
on piers and at every vantage point along the water front. Not the least interesting phase of the picture were the towering sky scrapers near the Battery with every window filled with eager faces. Flags were flying everywhere.

As the tidy little naphtha launch
just before four o'clock, with Mr. Bryan of the Illini put out from the yacht on board, the city fire and police boats and other craft in the vicinity set up a screeching of varied-toned whistles which continued long after Mr. Bryan had stepped out upon the yacht landing and had been cordially greeted and given the freedom of the city by Acting Mayor McGowan, William Flagg, president of the Commem-orial Travelers' Anti-trust league which had planned the reception and Mr.
Galt accompanied Mr. Bryan ashore.

Democrats From Everywhere.
Gathered at the Battery to extend a welcome to the homecoming were Democrats from all sections of the country. The party's national convention could not have brought together a more representative assembly.

The drive was up Broadway to Fifth street, thence east to Fifth avenue and down Fifth avenue to the Twenty-seventh street entrance to the Victoria hotel, which will be Bryan's headquarters. The drive was without incident other than the cheering which was taken up from block to block by persons on the crowded sidewalks. Mr. Bryan was quickly recognized by all and he smilingly bowed his acknowledgements.

Warehouse Chief Resigns.
Washington, Aug. 31.—The commissioner of Indian affairs was notified of the resignation of Roger C. Spooner, superintendent of the Indian warehouse at Chicago.

Bomb Wounds Factory Director.
Kearkov, Aug. 31.—A bomb was thrown under the carriage of Director Poller, of the Belgo-Russian factory, Thursday. Poller was seriously wounded.

ist in Delavan, prostitution of the Government Postoffice to enable a campaign manager to secure control of funds is alleged. It has an ugly ring to it—"Cooper and Graft." Cooper is implicated in so much as it is said he was perfectly cognizant with the charges made by Mr. Short last winter when the postoffice was awarded and still appointed the man selected by Mr. Kull. It is a hard matter to explain away. Was the Lake Geneva postoffice sold for a cash consideration or was it not? Did Cooper know of the deal? If so, what excuse is to be made? Mr. Kull is reported to have said that Mr. Short agreed to aid his, Kull's, newspaper materially if appointed and says that this is the reference to the fifty per. Even this excuse is flimsy. It is simply perverting the truth. If there was graft in connection with the appointment then it should be investigated and exposed. Cooper should be defeated for renomination if the charges are true and there is every reason to believe they are.

REFUSED TO LISTEN

Congressman Cooper has flooded the First district with his reasons for voting for the Philippine tariff measure. It is a lengthy document filled with excerpts from congressional reports jugged to suit the convenience of the congressman. When the measure came before congress last winter Mr. Cooper was importuned by his constituents in this and other counties to vote against the measure. He made no reply to these repeated requests. Similar requests were sent to Senators Spooner and La Follette and they both replied by asking that every bit of information on the subject possible should be sent them, as they wanted to fully understand the issues at stake before the bill came for a vote in the Senate. Cooper was supposed to be vitally interested in the welfare of his constituents, but steadily refused to listen to any arguments that did not favor the measure. He was bigoted in his support of a bill that the tobacco and sugar men of Wisconsin told him would ruin the business of the farmers of his district. In speaking of his position on the measure he said in his circular: "Last fall before congress assembled, I publicly declared myself in favor of such legislation. I have no apology to make for my vote. I stand by it." Is not this enough to demonstrate that he has lost interest in his district, the district that for the past fourteen years has sent him to congress and loyally supported him? He has no apology to make for his vote. Congressman Cooper stands before the people asking for their support with the statement in his request for support, "I have no apology to make for my vote," the vote which if it had been successful in its purpose would ultimately have ruined southern Wisconsin farmers. Is that the man you want for congressman, Mr. Voter?

HIS EXCUSE

Henry Allen Cooper, after the prodig he has received for his vote on the Philippine tariff bill, issues a circular defending his position, but it is a poor excuse at best, says the Wisconsin Tobacco Reporter. From statistics quoted by him it is admitted that 80,000 acres are devoted to tobacco in the islands. This acreage is nearly as much as all the cigar leaf states produce in this country. It is at least twice that of Wisconsin, and we produce something near half. Remove the duty and permit American capital to develop the industry and how long do you imagine it would take for the islands to monopolize the blunder market of this country? The Wisconsin farmer could not long remain in the business in competition with the cheap labor of the far east. If Mr. Cooper's position was right, how is it that the other Wisconsin congressmen couldn't see the same light, instead of remaining true to their constituents? But these men were not under obligations to repay the favors of a Philippine junkie. Mr. Cooper says, "the alarm of our tobacco interests is absolutely groundless." Oh! But the entire tobacco industry—from grower to manufacturer and the allied trades industry—were united in protesting against the passage of the bill. Does that signify anything? "Twice strong enough to satisfy the senate they had better not pass the measure! No, Mr. Cooper, your defense is no good.

PRESS COMMENT.

Suggests a Chore for Wellman. Milwaukee News: Having concluded to wait until next year before making his flying trip to the north pole, Walter Wellman might as well come home and discover if Roosevelt is in earnest in declining, or is waiting to be placed in the embarrassing position where he will be obliged to accept.

People Most Awfully Tired.

Racine Journal: Many citizens are weary of the protracted primary campaign and with another two months' campaign yet to come, will be ready to petition to have the briefest interval between the primary election, as well as a shorter interval between filing petition papers and primary election day.

Portage—Home of the Spud.

Stevens Point Journal: We wonder if even our own residents have taken note that Portage is the largest potato producing county in the state of Wisconsin? This is true and has been for a number of years. The acreage this year, however, beats all previous records, the number of acres now growing in that county being 27,019.

Pretty Well Ripped Up.

Evening Wisconsin: The fact that three of the Spanish ships which were captured by Dewey at Manila, in 1898, have been sold for $103, after advertising which cost $28, is proof that the Admiral didn't leave much of the Spanish fleet when he stopped firing upon it. What the Admiral didn't knock off with his rain of shot, the wreckers removed afterwards, and the purchasers got empty hulks that are fit only for junk.

Autos Subject to Libel.

Chicago Chronicle: Labouchere makes a humorous suggestion which has serious possibilities. He says that the automobile ought to be made subject to libel, thus putting it in the same class with ships. There is merit in the idea. Let the machine be tied up by a United States court pending a decision in cases of personal injury and motorists would be a whole lot more careful about running people down.

What the Dems Will Do.

La Crosse Leader-Press: The democrats have the balance of power in the republican party this year but they are not saying what they will do. Though Senator La Follette is making a shrewd appeal to them in every speech to vote for Lenroot, they are making no sign to indicate that such is their intention. As advocates of the square deal and deadly enemies of bossism in politics, it looks more like a democratic vote for Davidson than Lenroot.

Looking Hard For Beatific Vision.

Beloit News: Something has happened in Fond du Lac since Senator La Follette last was here. The Fond du Lac of six, four or even two years ago, was not the Fond du Lac which greeted the senator last night. Fond du Lac, once rock-bottom in its stultism, may or may not be for Irvine L. Lenroot for governor, but the senator's reception here tonight leaves no doubt that Fond du Lac has changed its political complexion.

Cambridge and Harvard.

Chicago Inter Ocean: The latest reports from England tend to increase the confidence of Americans in the belief that the Harvard crew will defeat that of Cambridge university in the race which will be rowed Sept. 3 on the famous Oxford-Cambridge course of four miles and three furlongs. "What the English cannot understand is why the Harvard boat goes so fast. They know their own style of rowing is in every way superior to the American style, but it is a mystery to them how the Harvard boat went over the Putney-Morlake course last Friday in the phenomenal time of 21 minutes 37 seconds.

Ware How You Shoot.

Marquette Eagle-Star: The open season for small game opens Saturday and hunters by the hundred and thousand will shoulder their guns and troop into the woods to shoot and be shot at. That the best hunter is not protected from the bullets, from the gun of the reckless amateur is the worst feature of the season, and a great many fatalities occur each year. Already there have been deaths and accidents and more will occur as soon as more men and boys enter the woods. The hunter should remember the danger of mistaking a man moving in the brush for game and should withhold his charge until as sure as a certainty. He may lose some game by this method, but he will save himself lasting remorse and some others much pain and suffering.

Kill 'Em or Forego Flats.

Madison Journal: Kill your kids! That sounds rough, but the advice that Dean Swift gave the starving people of Ireland seems to apply to Madison flat-hunters. It is not necessary to eat them here as Swift suggested, when he inveighed with fine sarcasm against the British government, but that they must be disposed of somehow is the ultimatum of many flat owners in Madison. Children are not wanted around by these conscienceless ones, who often having none of their own forget that they were once babes themselves. The music of childhood laughter and innocent romping of little ones, is a nuisance. There is an impression that children tear a house down. As a matter of fact many adults are much worse. Children turned loose with edged tools could hardly do more damage than many university students do. As to choosing between one's children and a flat there would seem little occasion for hesitating. The flat has been rightly named. Existence in it is flat indeed.

The Beer Topic is Still Foaming.

Evening Wisconsin: The discussion started during the convention of the Eagles, as to the proper temperature at which beer should be poured into the human stomach, has not yet subsided. It is giving the Milwaukee product a good deal of extra advertising, and also securing compliments for Milwaukee beer drinkers on their superior taste and hygienic prudence.

The New York Sun accords.

the subject a half-column space, in which it gives the tapsters of Gotham a rap for destroying the flavor and healthfulness of their home product by the despicable practice of serving it frozen. The Sun declares that the fine imported beers are ruined in the same manner. It ascribes this mistake to the demands of patrons, who call for frozen beer, and who would swallow anything equally cold, water or carbolic acid. The Sun declares that "Milwaukee, in keeping its beer at a normal temperature of about 50 degrees, is in the right according to tradition and according to science," and tells the St. Louis Eagle who criticized the barkeepers of this city for keeping their beer too warm to "go home and cool his head in the pall where he freezes what he calls beer."

Find Capability.

There is only one platy rule of life eternally binding. It is this: Try thyself unwearied, till thou findest the highest thing thou art capable of doing, and then do it.—John Stuart Mill.

Wine Poured Into River.

A wine dealer in Bingen, Germany, who was convicted of selling wine which he had adulterated, was punished by having his entire stock of 7,500 gallons of wine poured into the River Neckar.

HAVE FEW PRIVATE SCHOOLS.

Swiss People Pin Their Faith to Public Institutions.

One of the reasons why the Swiss fare well is that their public-school system is probably the best in the world, and with them public-school education is practically compulsory, writes Charles E. Russell in Everybody's. You can send your child to a private school (in some cantons) if you insist upon so doing, but the face of public opinion are sternly against the practice. In the canton of Solothurn private schools are absolutely forbidden.

In other cantons a private school pupil must secure a formal permit from the local authorities and in some cantons he must pay a charge to the public funds. The idea is that the public schools are good enough for all, that rich and poor meet there on even terms, that the public school is the nursery of democracy and patriotism; above all, that democracy is the life-blood and strength and very soul of the republic, and the republic is Switzerland, and without the republic Switzerland is nothing.

Private schools for Swiss children are few in number and such as exist are under strict supervision of the state. Education is a serious matter in Switzerland; there is no escape from it. A parent must send his children to school or go himself to jail. They kept a seventh-day adventist in jail for two years because he refused to let his child attend school on Saturdays. As it then seemed likely he would pass the rest of his life in a cell, he surrendered.

Still Marks on Old China.

Hunting for still-marks on old China is often good fun in itself. Almost every old piece of flintware, a plate, platters, saucers, etc., shows three little rough spots, more or less clearly marked on both sides, usually in the margin. These spots were made in the firing, by the cockspear or stilts—little tripods used between the plates in piling them up in the kiln. The three points where the cockspear touched the plate caused a defect in the glaze. Unfortunately, still-marks are not as sure a guarantee of authenticity as some collectors have supposed, for they are not only easy to imitate, but they are sometimes imperceptible on the old Staffordshire. Furthermore, they appear very frequently on modern tableware of the cheaper sort, and so are no sign of antiquity.—Country Life in America.

Believes in the Newspapers.

"I believe in the newspaper," said Mr. Alexander, the singing evangelist. "To illustrate their carrying power, let me tell a story."

"A newspaper, published in England, one day carried in its columns a sermon by the late Rev. Charles H. Spurgeon. That newspaper found its way to Australia, and eventually was part of a bundle that was thrown under the counter of a store to wrap up packages with. In course of time it was reached and inclosed some articles that were sent to the house of a most ungodly man. He unwrapped the goods, and as he did so the heading of the sermon struck his eye. The man read it, became thoughtful, read it again. It convinced him, and he became an earnest and devout Christian."

Michigan Drained by Lake.

WHERE LAWYER CAME IN.

Worked Up a Shock for the Passenger and Got Damages for It.

Uncle Billy Smith had got back home after a trip to see his sister, and sitting on the post office steps, relates the Baltimore American, he said to the men who were asking questions:

"Well, in the car with me was a lawyer. I'd been talkin' with him and feelin' sorry that he hadn't taken to some honest profession, when the cars run off the track. Nobody was hurt, but our trunks in the baggage car was all smashed up. Purty soon a man comes around, and ask us to make out the damages. I wrote down that I had lost two shirts, three pairs of socks, an old suit of clothes and a pair of shoes, and that my damages was ten dollars. The lawyer looks at the paper and said:

"But you haven't added anything for the shock."

"What shock?"

"The shock to your feelin's. Put down $200 for that."

"But have my feelin's been shocked?"

"Of course they have, and you must get pay for it."

"I put her down as he said, and two days later I got my damages in hard cash. I've all along thought a lawyer was next door to a pirate, and that he'd do most any mean thing, but I've had to change my mind. That fellow jest worked up a shock for me and got me $200 extra, and if my son Sam wants to go into the law business I shan't do any great objection."

SHE REFUSED TO OBEY.

Denise of Woman Who Had the Old Marriage Service Revised.

Mrs. Sarah J. Harper Starr of Bellevue, was buried the other day in the family mausoleum at Zeilenople, Penn., and a most wonderful life was ended, says the Pittsburg Dispatch.

Mrs. Starr's marriage in Cincinnati on May 22, 1849, is of historical importance in ecclesiastical circles. Miss Harper was 16 years old and had been studying in college with a view to missionary life in foreign lands. Dr. Starr, a young physician, was studying toward the same end and the couple decided to wed.

Miss Harper had ideas of her own on the question of the word "obey" in the ritual of the church, and decided that for her it should be eliminated. She found a friend in Rev. Maxwell Gladdis, assistant pastor of Morris chapel, Cincinnati, who promised to omit the word during the ceremony, and she was married, but friends were inconsiderate enough to say the marriage was invalid and at the next meeting of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, held in Cincinnati, the clergyman who had omitted the word was "churched."

Finally the question became general, and later, when decisive action was taken, the sentence "serve and obey" was ordered stricken out of the matrimonial ritual of the discipline of the Methodist church.

J. J. CUNNINGHAM

Janesville, Wis., Candidate for Congress, First Congressional District.

The following sketch of Mr. Cunningham who is a popular candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the First Congressional district and who is receiving hearty support from the Democrats throughout the district is taken substantially from circulars which are being sent broadcast throughout the district in his behalf.

Mr. Cunningham, a native of Wisconsin, was reared upon a farm, attended the district school, prepared for the university at the Evansville Seminary and Madison high school; taught school three winters; educated at the University of Wisconsin and graduated from the college of letters and laws.

On graduating in 1894 admitted to practice in all the courts of the state of Wisconsin and in the United States Circuit and the District Courts. Began practice at Monroe in his home county, but came to Janesville in November, 1894. In a few years built up a large and extensive practice in the courts of Wisconsin and neighboring states and in the Federal Courts. Devoted himself exclusively to his practice, and never held office except as a member of the County Board of Rock County. Always interested in public affairs. Entertains high ideals of public and private duty. Affiliated with the Democratic party believing that the welfare of the republic could be best wrought out upon the principles of Jefferson, "equal rights to all and special privileges to none."

Now a candidate for Congress at the urgent request of friends in every county of the district.

Is opposed to graft and corruption in every form; to evasion of the law as well as violation of it; to trusts; and to a tariff on trust goods, to private monopoly and to special privileges, to "business interests," dominating government for selfish purposes, to the indiscriminate use of the writ of injunction, to changing the nomination and election laws by every legislature, and to the professional lobby.

In favor of honest politics, honest business methods and absolute equality before the law, of the railroad rate commission and two-cent passenger mileage rate, of a revision of the tariff of postal savings banks, of government for the people and not for special interests.

In favor of the same prison garb for rich as for poor violators of the law; in favor of promoting the best-sugar and tobacco interests of Wisconsin and opposed to any law which will injure them.

In favor of statesmanship of the highest order, and of Hon. W. J. Bryan for president.

If nominated and elected he pledges the use of every faculty he possesses to promoting and protecting the interests of the people of the First Congressional district.

Had to Come to Janesville.

A Beloit lady consulted a leading dentist of her city and said: "Doctor, if you can do my work without hurting me I may have my patronage."

The dentist got mad in a minute, and replied: "Nobody can do painless work."

"I know better than that," replied the lady, "for I have been to a Janesville dentist who never hurt me in the least."

"Well, you better go back to him," said the ruffled dentist.

And she took the next car to Janesville where Dr. Richards did her work as she desired, painlessly.

She said on leaving, "Dr. Richards, you never hurt me a bit."

"It's queer, isn't it, that while scores of dignified, ethical dentists declare most emphatically that there is no such thing as painless dentistry."

Yet Dr. Richards goes right along serenely doing that very thing and the people are standing by him for they appreciate efficiency and skill.

ANSWER TO THE COOPER LETTER

BY SECY. A. L. FISHER OF TOBACCO GROWERS' ASS'N.

THREAT OF RUIN TO STATE

Of Wisconsin Leaf Industry Is Well Founded and No Idle Dream—Tariff Bill a Real Menace.

In answer to certain arguments in behalf of the Philippine tariff bill which were set forth in Congressman Henry A. Cooper's circular letter, Secretary A. L. Fisher of the Wisconsin Tobacco Growers and Dealers' association made some interesting and convincing statements which are set forth in the following interview:

"The Wisconsin farmers have every reason to question Congressman Cooper's position relative to the Philippine tariff bill. Granting that the facts set forth in his recent publication in the Milwaukee Free Press are true in the main, it is well to note that if Spain could find on the 1,000 islands and sufficiently fertile to produce 150,000 acres of sugar and 80,000 acres of tobacco—what will be the direct result if the United States government undertakes to foster the Philippine interests, and admits their products free in 1909. Suffice it to say, Wisconsin farmers would suffer in direct proportion to the prosperity of the islands.

"Wisconsin tobacco is commanding remunerative prices at present simply for the reason that there has been a large increase in the production of cigars, and this increase is largely in the cheaper grades. Domestic manufacturers look to Wisconsin for stock to a very large extent for the manufacture of this grade of cigars. Several of the larger manufacturers have recently declared that if it were possible to obtain a few shipments of tobacco from the Philippine islands it would bring Wisconsin tobacco down to where they formerly brought it. (A word to the wise is sufficient.)

"Suppose American capital should concentrate, and buy the mortgaged plantations that Congressman Cooper refers to in his write-up, is it not unreasonable to suppose in that case the acreage would be increased very greatly, and the yield increased materially? Wisconsin farmers would then be forced to realize that the American industries were in direct competition with the cheapest labor on earth, and that the Philippines were ready to produce more tobacco than Wisconsin and all the New England states combined.

"Wisconsin farmers would then be smoking stogies at 10¢ each, manufactured on the islands, but in addition thereto they would realize starvation prices for their own tobacco and beets and our once prosperous diversified farming and high-priced Wisconsin farms would have depreciated at least 50 per cent.

"Wisconsin farmers and Wisconsin tobacco dealers are not disposed to sit idly by and witness such a dire calamity for their state. We can ill afford to allow the products of the island to menace our prosperous condition at the present time. If our producers of Wisconsin tobacco and sugar beets wish to bring their products into competition with the cheap labor of the Philippines and receive barely cost prices for their product, they should vote for charity's sake and alleviate the present condition of the islanders. On the other hand, if they wish to sustain present prosperity, they are compelled to vote for congressmen who are pledged to perpetuate home interests.

"Dealers today are suffering from 'triadecafolia.' What will be the condition of both dealer and grower in 1909 if the Philippine bill becomes a law?"

CIRCUS ARRIVES; SMALL BOYS GLAD

RINGLING BROS. DRAW CROWDS TO THE CITY TODAY.

WAS A GREAT PERFORMANCE

Parade Was Exceptionally Fine—Performance This Afternoon Above the Average.

Before daybreak this morning the first section of Ringling Bros.' circus arrived from Fond du Lac and began to unload at the Five Points crossing, the operations being witnessed by several hundred early risers, largely small boys, and by the time the average citizen awoke the last big truck and cage, had reached the Spring Brook show grounds, the main tents were up, and morning meal for the great caravan had been served, and preparations for the parade were in progress. Then the excursion trains began to arrive. The 9:20 on the Northwestern from Evansville and Madison brought in an enormous crowd and even the baggage car on the 10:15 from Whitewater and Milton over the St. Paul was added with passengers. Other trains came in with big reinforcements from Beloit, Delavan, Edgerton, Avalon, Brodhead and Orfordville, and other neighboring cities and villages. Clayton Tanberg, ticket agent for the North-Western and M. P. Justinger, of the St. Paul both declared that the largest throng of excursionists gathered together on one occasion in a year's time disembarked at the Bower City stations this morning. At eight o'clock the thoroughfares had commenced to take on a gala day appearance and at nine, when City Marshal Appleby in company with Detective Ryan, of the circus commenced their horse-and-buggy tour of the city, thousands of men, women, and children of all ages and previous conditions of servitude were losing one another good naturedly on the sidewalks and vehicles of all descriptions from hay-racks to automobiles were wending their tortuous ways amid the multitudes elbowing out into the thoroughfares. The sun shone brightly and not a cloud overshadowed the promise of a perfect day.

Van-guard of Big Pageant.

Shortly after ten o'clock the sounds of far-away music and the distant glimmer of red and gold, announced to the watchers on Jackson street the approach of the big morning pageant. Owing to misleading reports the parade had been expected from another quarter and thousands, fearing that they might miss something, began to push their way westward on Milwaukee street as the circus girl buglers, mounted on their white steeds, swung onto the main highway. Followed the first band wagon drawn by twenty-six powerful draft horses; the pretty snake charmer all dressed in black; the beautiful black and cream color horses driven in threes by men and women garbed in gorgeous regalia; and then the first of the animal cages.

Everything New and Bright.

The trappings and costumes were new and bright; the splendid horses had the sleek, well-fed appearance which betokens perfect care; the chariots and harness were in flawless condition; the whole gorgeous spectacle of gaudy color and tinsel with its marvelous appeal to the imagination of all who ever followed the addition of all who ever followed the adventures of Aladdin, the genie of his lamp, and Sinbad the Sailor, or gloried in the jungle tales of Kipling, or the somewhat meagre achievements of Noah, revealed itself without confusion or accident, with no untoward condition or circumstance to dispel the beautiful impression and illusion. The parade was over a mile long and the hands of the clock must needs mark off an hour ere it had passed a given point.

Wild Animal Display.

The display of wild animals in open cages was unusually generous. Young lions and the shaggy old monarchs, tigers, leopards, hyenas, and bears—all magnificent specimens—glared or looked complacently at the spectators from behind the steel bars. True to his proverbial exclusiveness the great blood-sweating behemoth of the river Nile kept under cover and with curious had to remain content with his painted portrait on the sides of the houseboat. The bells of Moscow, the equestriennes in their beautiful riding habits, the flocks of the nations, the wonderful mounted band of fourteen white horses, the team of fourteen gaily caparisoned camels, the team of twenty-four little Shetlands drawing the float of Persia, the herd of twenty-five elephants headed by two gigantic specimens bearing brightly embroidered palanquins, in which pretty women accommodated themselves to the odd, swaying motion of the great beasts, the Japanese float, the monkey cage, the clown band, the Roman chariots, and last of all the shrill calliope, drew forth ecstatic cries from the children and thrilled the older folk. Only one thing was lacking—the roar of the barker, advertising the free exhibition, seemed to have lost some of its sonorous and penetrating qualities. He could scarcely be heard a half a block away.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

"Delavan" in the City: Spencer Alexander and his wife and daughter arrived in Janesville last evening and are stopping at the Grand hotel. Mr. Alexander was known by the sobriquet "Delavan" during the many years when he had charge of the stock of the Burr Robbins circus, the headquarters of which were located in this city. Since leaving Janesville he has had charge of all the horses with the Ringling Bros. shows and the fine character of the collection is due to his rare judgment.

Drunk Broke Plate Window: Just before three o'clock this afternoon a drunk was thrown out of the Charles Lagerman saloon on North Main street. When he tried to get back into the establishment and was clutching the barkeeper came out and gave him another shove, which flopped him against the plate window with such force as to crack it from corner to corner.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a true friend to woman. It has been of great benefit to me, curing me of irregular and painful periods when everything else had failed, and I gladly recommend it to other suffering women."

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, bloating (or flatulence), displacement of organs, inflammation or ulceration, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences, and be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. ## LABELS MUST NOT DECEIVE

CONTENTS OF PACKAGES TO BE SPECIFICALLY STATED.

Products Must Be Distinctly Described if Packers Desire Government Stamp of Approval.

Washington, Aug. 31.—Nothing short of the placing upon meat products of labels which will not deceive the public was the ultimatum which Secretary Wilson delivered to 40 representatives of various packing houses who met here Thursday.

Hereafter, if the packers want their goods accepted for interstate shipment, they must bear labels more specific than those used in the past. It will not do, for instance, to state merely that a package contains sausage. The label must distinctly describe the article and plainly show that the sausage is made entirely of pork, of pork and beef combined, or of other ingredients. The same rule will apply to other products.

The elimination of certain advertising features on the labels also will be insisted upon. The packers were particularly solicitous regarding the meat products already put up and held in stock, but Secretary Wilson assured them it was not his intention to open every package, but to select a certain percentage of them and if they were found to be as represented he would authorize the issuance of labels for the entire lot certifying that it had been inspected and had met the requirements of the law.

In administering the law, Secretary Wilson said that he would apply the principle of common sense and that it was not his intention to be hypocritical or to impose any unnecessary hardships upon the packers.

Pershing, military attaché at the American embassy in Japan, is among those mentioned in this connection. Paymaster General Dodge will retire September 11. Col. ### HAD THE SOLDIER'S INSTINCT.

British General Immediately Diagnosed Meaning of Shot.

To understand war, says the author of "A People at School," is an instinct. To illustrate the aphorism, he tells a story of an English general whose understanding of sounds was phenomenal. One night, he says, after dinner they were all sitting talking at headquarters. They were expecting an attack, and sentries and pickets were posted far out beyond the stockade.

Suddenly we heard one shot, of course, every one jumped up. The bugles sounded, the men fell in, the officers ran to their posts. Gen. Symonds alone had not moved. After listening intently for a moment or two, he had sat down again.

I myself was between two minds; whether to go out with one of the parties, hastily assembling outside, or to stay with the general. "So I stood irresolutely by the door."

"You can sit down," said Symonds; "it is nothing. A sentry has let off his rifle by accident. That is all."

So it proved. While he was leaning upon his rifle it had gone off, and so had his fingers.—Youth's Companion.

ABSENT-MINDED PERSONS.

Domestic Dialogue Which Betrays Laxity on Both Sides of the House.

"What did you do with my pocket knife when you finished using it?" asked a young man of his wife as they stepped from a street car returning from Swope park yesterday.

A look of consternation spread over the wife's face as she replied:

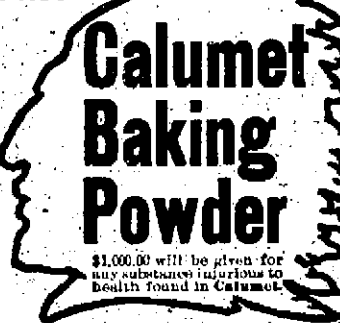

"Oh, I'm so awfully sorry. I left it sticking in the tree after we ate our luncheon. We were in such a hurry to catch a car, you know."

"You probably hold the record for absent-mindedness," retorted the half angry husband. Just then she caught him wiping the perspiration from his brow with a paper napkin which he had placed in his pocket instead of his handkerchief. He had left the handkerchief lying on the grass.

FAD IN UNDERWEAR.

Steel Works Employee Covered His Body With Porous Plasters.

A new use for porous plasters was recently brought to light when it was discovered that a foreign employee of the Minnqua steel plant had converted a number of them into a suit of underwear, says the Pueblo Chieftain. It was not exactly a union suit, but was more on the crazy quilt order. The discovery was not made easily, and it was only after a strenuous effort that the foreigner was obliged to reveal to what use he had put the porous plasters which had been banded out to him “for medicinal purposes only.”

As is known, all the employees of the Minnqua plant pay $1 a month for the privileges at the dispensary. Of the hundreds who call there each day comparatively few come to have injuries dressed. The balance are troubled with coughs and colds, rheumatism and a hundred other small ailments. A good per cent of them make regular calls and ask for liniment, salve or porous plasters without saying anything about their ailments. As a rule the attending physician takes it for granted that the men are in need of the different articles, and they are banded out without asking any questions other than to ascertain the name.

It was discovered, however, that the foreigner in question called almost every day for the plasters, and the physicians began to think that he was a healthy looking patient to be having so many pains. A few days later they were given the tip that there were some of the foreign employees of the plant who were wearing the plasters for underwear.

So a plan was laid to trap the artist who was doing the latest stunt in sanitary clothes wearing. They did not have long to wait, for on that evening the foreigner approached the window at the dispensary and whispered “Plaster.” He was then invited into a room and was given to understand that if he would please the count much if he would remove his clothing. The foreign gentleman realized that he “was up against it” and refused in no uncertain manner. However, he was given some help in doing the disrobing act. His ready to wear garments consisted of a shirt, a pair of overalls and a pair of shoes.

When these were removed, what the physicians and a few other workmen beheld was what resembled an Egyptian mummy. From the ankles up every portion of the foreigner's body was covered with porous plasters. They were pulled off until the operator grew tired of his task. Then the foreigner was given an unlimited amount of good advice, was told to get on his other articles of clothing and make a hasty exit. It is believed that a number of other employees are also exponents of the new fad.

Ten minutes devoted to reading the ads may save you an hour of “shopping.”

ENGLAND RAN LOTTERIES.

Source of Public Revenue from Early Times Till the Year 1824.

Lotteries were common in ancient Rome, and during the middle ages lotteries were utilized by the Italian merchants for the disposal of their goods.

Some of the Italian states then adopted the lottery as a means of raising revenue, and the institution of state lotteries, afterwards became very common and very popular throughout Europe. The earliest English state lottery of which there is any record was in 1569, when 40,000 chances were sold at ten shillings each, the drawing taking place in the west door of St. Paul's cathedral. The prizes consisted of articles of plate, and the profits were employed for the repair of certain harbors.

Early in the reign of Queen Anne private lotteries were suppressed, “as public nuisances,” but government lotteries were still maintained, and from 1709 to 1824 considerable sums were annually raised in lotteries authorized by act of parliament.

The average yearly profit to the government from 1793 to 1824 was over $1,700,000. On the ground of injury to public morals, lotteries of all kinds were abolished in England in 1826.

Before and After.

“By the way, how is our old friend Weeds getting along?” asked the man who had been away. “When his wife died, six months ago, he seemed utterly crushed.”

“Yes,” replied the man who had stayed at home, “but since he met the young widow from Kalamazoo he is utterly mashed.”—Chicago Daily News.

Envious.

Mrs. Dryun—They say that Mrs. Smiley has driven her husband to drink. Dryun—Just my miserable luck!

“Why, what do you mean, my dear?” “I had almost made up my mind to propose to her when I met you.”—Chicago Daily News.

'Twill Break His Heart.

Bronco Bill—De sheriff hez posted a reward uv 50 cents fer Roarin' Rube, dead or alive.

Grizzly Pete—Dat'll be poor Rube's finish. When he hears de size uv de reward he'll kill himself—fer shame.—Judge.

Had to Go.

An active New Yorker rushed up to the ticket window, shoved his money through the hand-hole and said to the man in the office: “I want to go to Philadelphia!” The agent looked at him in surprise and answered witheringly: “You're a liar; you've got to go.” He then handed out the ticket, smiling superciliously.
